Reflections —
images cast on a clear pool, softly radiant and silently afloat.
Water from many sources
trickles into the pool.
Each drop is surrounded by others.
Together they form the body of water.
Alone, each drop explores the boundaries and

WELCOME TO EAST

faculty

Principally Proud

The goal of the four administrators at Shawnee Mission East this year was to contribute to a team effort yet function as unique individuals. The proficient administrative team successfully reached their goal as they coordinated the interests and activities of the entire school.

Dr. James Sandfort, principal, competently headed the team while supervising the students and faculty. Dr. Arthur Newcomer, our experienced associate principal, skillfully and energetically tackled the demanding job of handling all sports programs. We are proud to announce that Dr. Newcomer recently was honored as "Outstanding Athletic Director in the State of Kansas" for the 1977-1978 school year. Dr. Jerry Abbot, functioning as assistant principal, effectively administered curriculum and instruction. Dr. Sheila Dahling, who previously taught at SMEast as an English teacher, completed her first year as assistant principal in charge of student activities and affairs, proving herself most qualified for such a challenging position.

This year's theme, "Proud to Be-SME" was indeed exemplified by the pride and dedication manifested by these four fine administrators.

A View From the Top

The overwhelming task of satisfying the needs and desires of the whole Shawnee Mission District fell on the shoulders of the Board of Education, aided by Dr. Ball. Making decisions which would improve the educational quality of the district was their premier job.

Dr. Ball, as superintendent of the Shawnee Mission Schools, has the responsibility of linking the school to community. Solving crucial problems, as well as presenting new ideas, were only part of his time consuming job.

Dr. Molotsky, East area superintendent, oversaw the budgets and planning for our school. He was responsible for the art area renovation and the new photography area.

Working together, the board, Dr. Ball, and Dr. Molotsky overcame many complications and efficiently organized over 65 high schools, junior high schools, and elementary schools. Through their work, the high standards of the district were maintained.

Counselors: B. Kelly, D. Wolff, H. Gersh, R. Soptic, P. Dittlemore, R. Crawford.

A plethora of problems may arise in a student's life. The competent staff of counselors were ready to aid anyone to the best of their abilities. Whether it be a problem with family, friends, classes, or schedule, the counselors were there to advise, console, and help.

Serving as a mediator between parents, administration, and students was one factor of their job. Helping students with college and vocational plans was another major portion. Many who had never sought help from their counselors found it difficult to request a counselor's recommendation for college. But those who had utilized the counseling facilities found the counselors eager to help.

The tremendous amount of work and effort the counselors put into their work was returned in the satisfaction of seeing a student surmount a difficulty.

Busy Bodies

Without an efficient office staff serving as the hub of our school's wheel of activities, chaos would break loose. The office personnel combined their efforts to keep the flow of students, activities, and records in order. A job ranging from filing transcripts, bookkeeping, telephone calls, and most of the paperwork of our school, fell on their shoulders. Student aides were able to assist by delivering messages and typing.

From the moment one entered the office, one had all of the help and resources the office staff had to offer. Problems with records or a missed appointment were daily occurrences they had to deal with. Students rarely stopped to appreciate the smooth and effective way the office was run, but their smiles made it all worthwhile to the office personnel.

Secretaries: J. Woolworth, data processing clerk; L. Krebs, receptionist; T. Gwinn, registra
J. Van Pelt, counselors' secretary.

Secretaries: B. Tweedie, bookkeeper; I. James, asst. principals' secretary; J. Erickson, principal's secretary.

Security Officer: C. Pappenfort

Nurse: M. Dorn; Attendance: M. Coster

Each and every morning, the attendance center was flocked with students. "My car wouldn't start and I had to park in the pool parking lot. I couldn't help it." "Third hour yesterday? Well, I was uh-um . . ." Passes to get into class, out of class, and unexcused absentees were all part of the busy day for the attendance clerks. They were also required to do terrific amounts of filing and searching for missing students. The attendance center was more centrally located this year, moving the noise and confusion out of the office area.

Students with ailments ranging from a headache to a broken bone, were turned over to the capable hands of Mrs. Dorn, the school nurse. She supplied the student with cough drops and safety pins. She provided all of the health services for our school with a smile. Her work often required her to be seriously concerned for the students, but she also reserved an air of skepticism for those students she saw too often.

Enforcing the school attendance policy, the attendants had their hands full keeping students in school and in class. The nurse certainly had her work cut out for her, tending to the ill. The efficient work of these two offices made them an integral part of our school.

Aching or Faking?

PTA Officers: B. Fowler, president; M. Eaton, treasurer; G. Gill, second vice-president; M. Robards, c. secretary; M. Uppman, r. secretary; E. Kimura, first vice-president.

Shawnee Mission East proudly claimed the largest PTA in the state of Kansas this year. In addition, the Association was voted as one of the outstanding PTA units in the nation. Involvement peaked as 1500 memberships were sold.

The dedicated PTA members volunteered over five thousand working hours by baking cookies, grading papers, hostessing, or any one of a variety of projects. They sponsored the only College Clinic in Johnson County, which had the largest participation of colleges in the midwest. Another activity of major importance was the planning and chaperoning of the after-prom party. The PTA also sponsored the annual Art Purchase Award along with the Carl Ison Outstanding Senior in Performing Arts Award.

The PTA was an integral part of SM East this year. The involvement of the parents and teachers was greatly appreciated by the students. Under the direction of Mrs. James Fowler, the PTA provided the necessary support and encouragement for a successful year.

Helping Hands

The custodial staff and cafeteria personnel both worked diligently in order to make the atmosphere at SM East conducive to learning.

Besides doing the usual janitorial chores, such as sweeping floors and washing windows, the custodial staff participated in a pilot program concerned with energy conservation. To make the building more energy efficient, the entire heating plant was overhauled and many doorways were altered thus creating buffer zones. Mr. Ken Chipman, the head custodian, was in charge of these renovations.

Hot, delicious, nutritious food was available in the cafeteria. Those people surviving the scramble were able to eat balanced meals, thanks to the cafeteria personnel.

Renovation struck again! Air ducts, plumbing, and an increased electrical capacity were some of the improvements made in old rooms. The older rooms were not only painted but also filled with new cabinets and furniture. A sculpture patio, a gas line, and a new box for the gas kiln were also welcomed. A newly acquired addition led to great excitement. East now had a dark room and a photography room. Photography classes began second semester.

Drawing, painting, Art I, ceramics, jewelry, and textiles were just a few of the many art courses available. Students were able to express individuality from the many techniques they learned. The exceptional artwork some students created was displayed in the halls at East and in art shows.

Each unique display of art enriched the school in a cultural manner. Aspiring students of art were able to have their names known throughout East and also compete for awards. The creative resources at East helped to produce the great works of art.

Art for Art's Sake

Art: G. Hines, Photography, Oils, Drawing, Acrylic Painting; C. Crawford, Jewelry, Ceramics, Sculpture; D. Welty, Design, Textiles, Commercial Art, Art I; E. McDonald, Watercolor, Photography, Art I.

Home Economics: G. Brandt, Child Development, Family Relations, Interior Design; R. Gasper, Tailoring, Fashion Fabrics, Spec. Knits, Sports and Separates, Clothing I; J. Foraker, Focus on Foods, Survival Skills, Entertaining with Foods, Creative Cookery.

Home Economics is quickly becoming one of the more useful and practical departments as it covers a wide spectrum of interests and opportunities for SM East students. Tucked away in the west end of the building, the department taught eager students economical and productive ways to best cope with adult situations. Many courses were centered around skills which prepare men and women alike for various hobbies or leisure time activities.

A variety of clothing courses were offered which allowed students to pursue their special interests. Among these were Tailoring, Sports and Separates, Family Clothing, and Fashion Fabrics.

Entertaining with foods and Focus on Foods added an exotic flair to basic cooking techniques while Survival Skills taught young men the techniques of basic cooking.

Special areas of study, Child Development and Personal and Family Relations, were examined in order to shrink the generation gap. Interior Design focused on the creativity of the student.

Impresarios

East's "Hollywood' once again produced three great productions. MID SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM was the fall play and the spring play was the IMAGINARY INVALID. OKLAHOMA struck the stage in key as East's big musical.

Many students were involved in the creation of these productions. Actors and actresses spent hours perfecting lines while even more students in the stage crew created the sets. Lancers involved with the productions were rewarded with points for their endeavors. If a student had enough points, he would then become a member of the Thespians.

A myriad of students were also involved in debate, mass media, forensics, and speech. Debate and forensics students who earned enough points were members of the National Forensics League.

In all areas of the fine arts, excellence was a keynote. Students behind the scenes kept the shows rolling for those who were in the spotlight. Prompters, the stage crew, and the light crew were imperative in that effort. Debators displayed their talents with the use of carefully researched proof. Advertisements promoted the shows, thus increasing attendance. Hard work and talent flowed steadily throughout the fine arts department.

Fine Arts: B. York, Stagecraft, Speech 1, 2, Mass Media; E. Evans, Rep. Theatre Actors' Studio, Intro. to Theatre.

Industrial art classes offered the students hands-on training for a wide variety of jobs. From the drawing of floor plans in architecture class to automobile maintenance in auto tech, the students were allowed to experiment individually. Personally designed and made, students' projects promoted pride in excellent craftsmanship.

A great satisfaction can be obtained in knowing how to repair or build something with one's own hands. Producing a finished project from raw materials promotes a great sense of accomplishment.

In auto tech, the student learned the complexities of the car and what to do when it breaks down. In wood and metal classes, individual creativity was encouraged in making furniture. Architectural and mechanical drawing taught the processes in designing the projects to be built. Power and energy developed the concepts of mechanics in industry. Communications by symbols or words were the basis of the drafting program.

Through the wide variety of classes offered, the individual interests of the students were met and catered to. One was introduced to areas of industry which are used in everyday life. The development of physical, as well as mechanical skills, was the main objective of the department. Encouraged to gain these skills by experimentation, the student gained a feeling of self-achievement. The Industrial Arts program taught skills which would allow the student to compete in the world of industry.

A Real "Crash" Course

STUDENT DRIVER — This threatening sign, frequently seen roaming the streets during class hours, may startle many drivers, but it fails to alarm the driving instructors at Shawnee Mission East. These teachers feel a responsibility toward better equipping East students for road handling and possible emergencies. The driver education department is geared to orienting beginning drivers to the often hazardous traffic scene.

Students learn the rules of the road through a four-phase program. Classroom instruction includes bookwork, verbal and physical testing, discussions, and a study of accident prevention. Movies and films are an effective means of teaching driving techniques. The simulator phase teaches basic control of steering, brake, and acceleration. Proper timing is emphasized with the use of these unique teaching devices. Simulators safely present to students road hazards that could not be planned otherwise. The driving range allows practice of various high-skill maneuvers such as angle and parallel parking. If the weather permits, dangerous road conditions caused by ice and snow can be experienced on the range. Actual street driving acclimates the student to everyday driving situations. This method provides exposure to city driving, interstate highways, rural roads, and shopping centers.

A graduate of driver education may receive a driver's license without further testing. Passing this course allows considerable discounts by several insurance companies.

The Learning Center, described as a study and instruction program, aided students with irregular learning skills. The center provided an educational atmosphere without a typical classroom environment.

The Learning Center encouraged students to become familiar with the program and to take advantage of the available guidance and resources. The center faculty was superior this year with a staff which was willing to devote endless hours toward the improvement of a student's educational related weaknesses. The qualified instructors coupled with the excellent facilities combined to create a well-developed, productive, learning program.

The function of the center was to remediate certain learning disabilities so that a student might enter into a structured classroom surrounding. Special attention became one of the primary purposes while skill development was emphasized. More personal instruction was directed towards independent study and small study groups. Through the administration of achievement tests, the center aided teachers in determining a student's strengths and weaknesses.

The center was under the direction of Mr. Rogers, Mrs. Flanigan, and Mrs. McDowell with the additional assistance and services of Mrs. White. Approximately 60 students utilized the learning facilities each day, most students spending two hours of their schedule in the center. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors were invited to improve their study habits and skills.

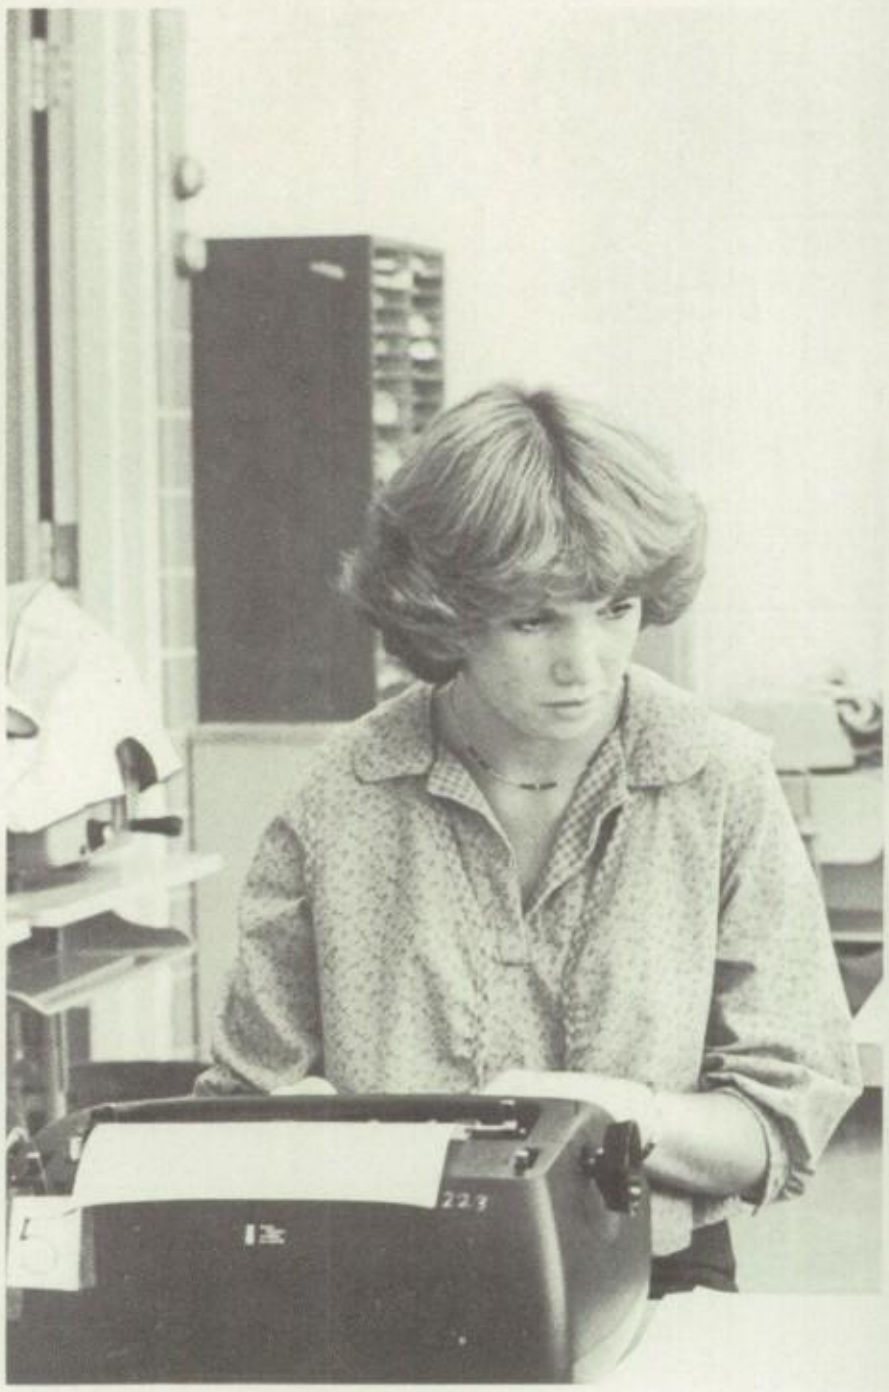
Business Is Booming

Preparing one for future life is considered by some to be the only reason for school. If that's true, then one department fulfilled all of their expectations. Business classes were aimed to help students develop skills of particular careers. Many students found the classes useful in their everyday lives now, and others were preparing themselves for the future, whether it be college or a job. Typing, notetaking, and personal finance classes were certainly applicable to a student's life. Bookkeeping, shorthand, office education, recordkeeping, accounting, and marketing and retailing all prepared the student for facets of many jobs.

In full use this year, the business resource center offered students a place to catch up on typing or receive extra help without interrupting other classes. Staffed by the business teachers, it was a great help to needy students.

Through on the job training and consortium classes students could receive credit for working. They also could explore a possible career while still in high school. This was a big help to people who were not sure about what they wanted to do for a career and were cautious about jumping into the huge corporate world.

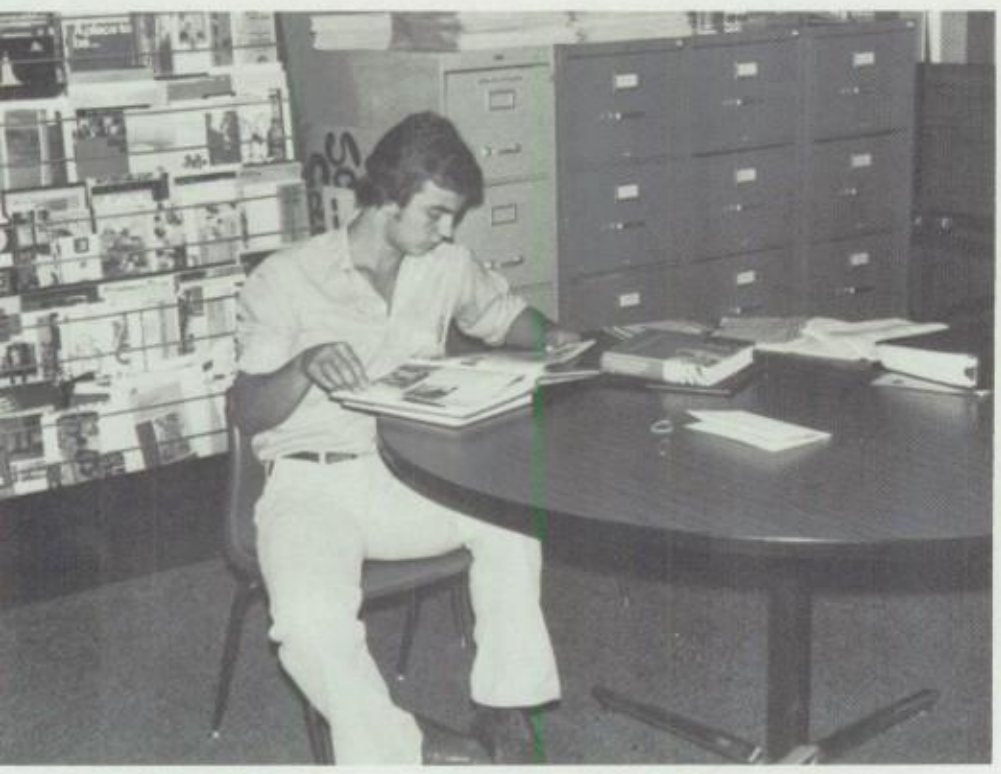
The ultimate goals of the business department were to teach a student skills, develop his interests, and prepare him for a career. Through the dedication of the staff, many students emerged from business courses equipped with skills which will enable them to compete in the job market.



In Quest of a Career

T. Kocialski, Health Careers.

A. Schenewerk, Career Counselor



Mrs. Schenewerk headed the Career Development Center, where career education was stressed and the relationships between student interests and future options were explored.

Career Education at SM East was a two week program. It began with a discussion of career education — why we work and the factors and forces affecting career decisions. Included in the discussion was a presentation on the skills of decision making, a study of values, and an extensive interpretation of the Ohio Vocational Interest Survey. A copy of the students' scores and an interpretation was sent home to the students' parents as well.

The students were then taught how to use the facilities of the center. An individual conference was held with each student following the course, in order to study the relationships between his or her interests, abilities, goals, values, and personality traits.

Miss Kocialski led the Health Careers program. It provided students interested in health with a two hour course concerned with the well-being of both people and animals. Students were also exposed to available health careers.

Word Power

Classes in English were limited to twenty-four students for the first time. Thus, English students were able to have more individual attention, resulting in the improvement of an already strong program. Three replacements and two additions in faculty were another change within the language arts department.

It was imperative for all students to attain both written and oral competence in English. This was partially achieved through the analysis of literature which enlightened students of all levels. Grammar and vocabulary were useful tools in the creation of expository themes. These all combined to fill in gaps in the skills of language arts students.

Senior English was unique in that it was an elective course for students who already had four credits in language arts. It was very popular and many students were soon introduced to the Thirty Days book. A vast range of topic from a-z was covered in term papers. Students were ready to face both the collegiate and business worlds.

The tyros of sophomore English were introduced to Julius Caesar and the expository theme. Juniors plunged into Steinbeck's Grapes of Wrath and analyzed a myriad of great works in American literature. Others of the junior class examined the works of English authors such as Shakespeare, Keates and Shelley.

For those who wished to increase their reading skills, an additional language arts course, reading improvement, was available to all students. Fundamentals of English grammar was also another language arts course for junior and senior students. It dealt primarily with grammar and sentence structure. Students were only allowed to take it concurrently with junior and senior English classes.

Learning a foreign language provided a challenge for many students this year as they strived to master a second tongue. Reading, writing, grammar, and listening instruction proved to be of the utmost importance in order for students to improve their language skills. History, literature, and culture were studied in advanced classes! The resource center was accessible to all visual aids, and make-up work.

The notable qualifications of the six foreign language teachers indicated that the department was one of the more experienced in the building. Several instructors had been teaching for over twelve years while each had traveled to their respective countries, many gaining experience by actually living among the natives.

First place honors were awarded to French and Spanish students in state-wide and national competitions. Advanced students frequently earned college credit, usually twelve to fourteen hours. The rewards of a second language exist culturally and scholastically.

Divisions of Math

For some, math was a dreaded hour of confusing equations and concepts. For others, it was a time to test their intelligence and explore the realms of mathematics.

The basics of Algebra I and Geometry would be pursued further in more advanced classes. If one made it through the complexities of logarithms and parabolas in Algebra II, then one was ready to explore the trigonometric world.

With Trigonometry under one's belt, the paradox of calculus was presented for those who wished an intensified look at limits, logic, and theory.

Computer science introduced the student to an area of increasing importance in our computerized society. The language and usage of the computer were thoroughly explored and learned.

Even if one took a math class for the requirement, a college preparatory, or for personal enrichment, the student emerged more capable of dealing with mathematical concepts.

Mathematics: G. Bloomster, Trig., Geom.; S. Carter, Appl. Math, Algebra; W. Breese, Geom., Alg. 2; M. Hogan, Calc., Geom.; R. Runyan, Trig., Alg. 2.

A Path to Resources

Steinbeck, Hemingway, Bronte, and many more distinguished authors had their unique literary works offered in East's library. These, combined with a myriad of books available on specific topics, enabled East to cover a wide scope of knowledge.

A quiet atmosphere proved to be an asset to students. Librarians and student aides were available when one needed assistance. Students took pride in the library's 20,000 volume collection of books and audio-visual resources.

A few students gained knowledge of library operations from the experience of being a library aide. Rewarded for their endeavors, library assistants at East had the opportunity of earning one-fourth to one-half credit as an elective toward graduation each semester.

Convenience to students was a tradition the library upheld. In addition to before and after school hours, the library was usually open all seven hours during the day.

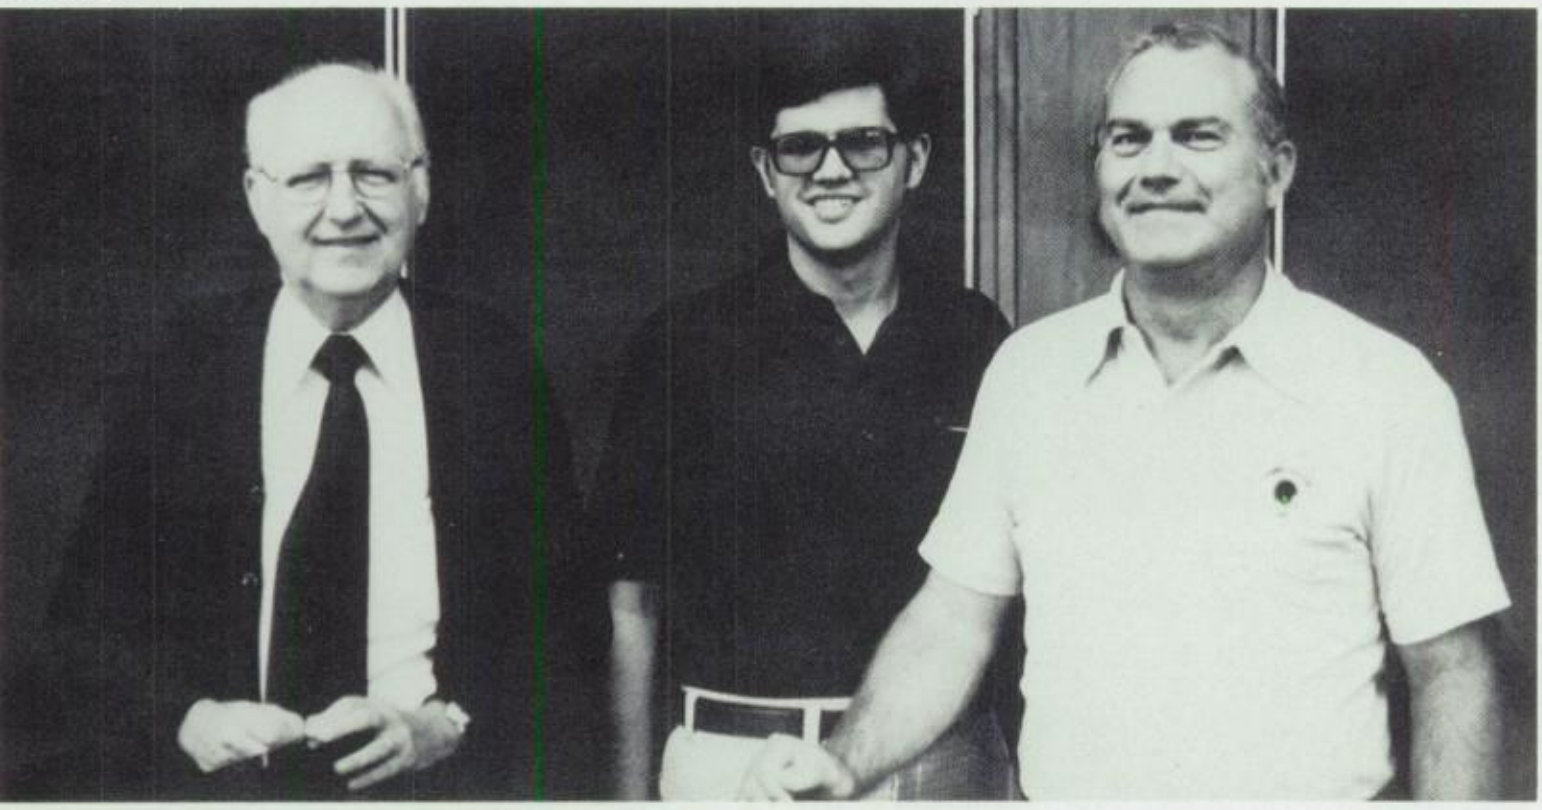
Librarians: J. Wood; P. Reichart

Music: K. Tebow, Orchestra, Music Theory; A. Hanna, Band 2, 3, Jazz Band; D. Zollars, Concert, Girls', Sophomore Choirs, Choraliers, Chamber Singers.



East's music department offered a wide repertoire of musical selections ranging from classical to pop. Students participated in the Holiday Vespers concert in December, the Masterworks concert in February, and the State Festival in April.

The choirs, Chamber Singers, Choraliers, Concert, Sophomore, and Girls Choir, directed by Mr. Dan Zollars, maintained a high quality of vocal excellence. Soloists were an outstanding addition at several music concerts.

Mr. Kenneth Tebow led the orchestra as strings vibrated in harmony. Balanced tones were a quality found in concerts the orchestra participated in. Local clubs also heard the orchestra play.

The Blue Knights Jazz Ensemble as an elective was a new twist to an old tune. Band students were able to enroll in both jazz band and their regular band class. The A band, the B band, and the Blue Knights, directed by Mr. Al Hanna, were heard at several concerts throughout the year. The pep band played at many pep assemblies. The marching band was a highlight during the half time at varsity football games.

Some of the more ambitious students of vocal, instrumental, or orchestral music received music letters. The choirs, the bands, and the orchestra enriched the school with the sounds of music. A few exceptional music students qualified to go to All State.

Excellence a Keynote

Stress placed on physical fitness as well as sport skills was a major direction taken by the physical education department. An aim toward the development of a healthy body along with a healthy mind was held in high priority. This aim was accomplished through a less structured atmosphere, which was possible in a physical education class.

The wide variety of activities offered at East was another benefit for students. Some of the programs available include aquatics, team and individual sports, fitness, and recreational camps. Also, the elective program consists of team sports, gymnastics, fitness and weight lifting, individual and lifetime sports, and rules with officiating.

Through the plethora of sport related activities available at East, a student was able to be provided with competition and the development of good sportsmanship.

Physical education proved to be a fun way of learning and keeping physically fit. As a result, a healthy body and a healthy mind were attained by students.

More Able Leaders

The Naval Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps was designed to develop an appreciation of science and government areas not explored in other courses. Shawnee Mission East claimed the largest corps in the Shawnee Mission District, involving about one hundred students in the program. NJROTC was a school oriented service which emphasized academics as well as extra-curricular activities.

Among the civic and social activities supported by NJROTC were Back to School Night, College Clinic, Music Festival, and PTA functions. Sporting event performances included school football and basketball games, the Lancer Day parade, NAIA championship tournament appearances, and all Big 8 activities in Kansas City this year.

The NJROTC curriculum did not stress military techniques but rather focused on the sciences. A few of the many scientific fields examined were ocean science, astronomy, and navigation. A course in basic sailing, new this year, allowed students to gain actual sailing experience.

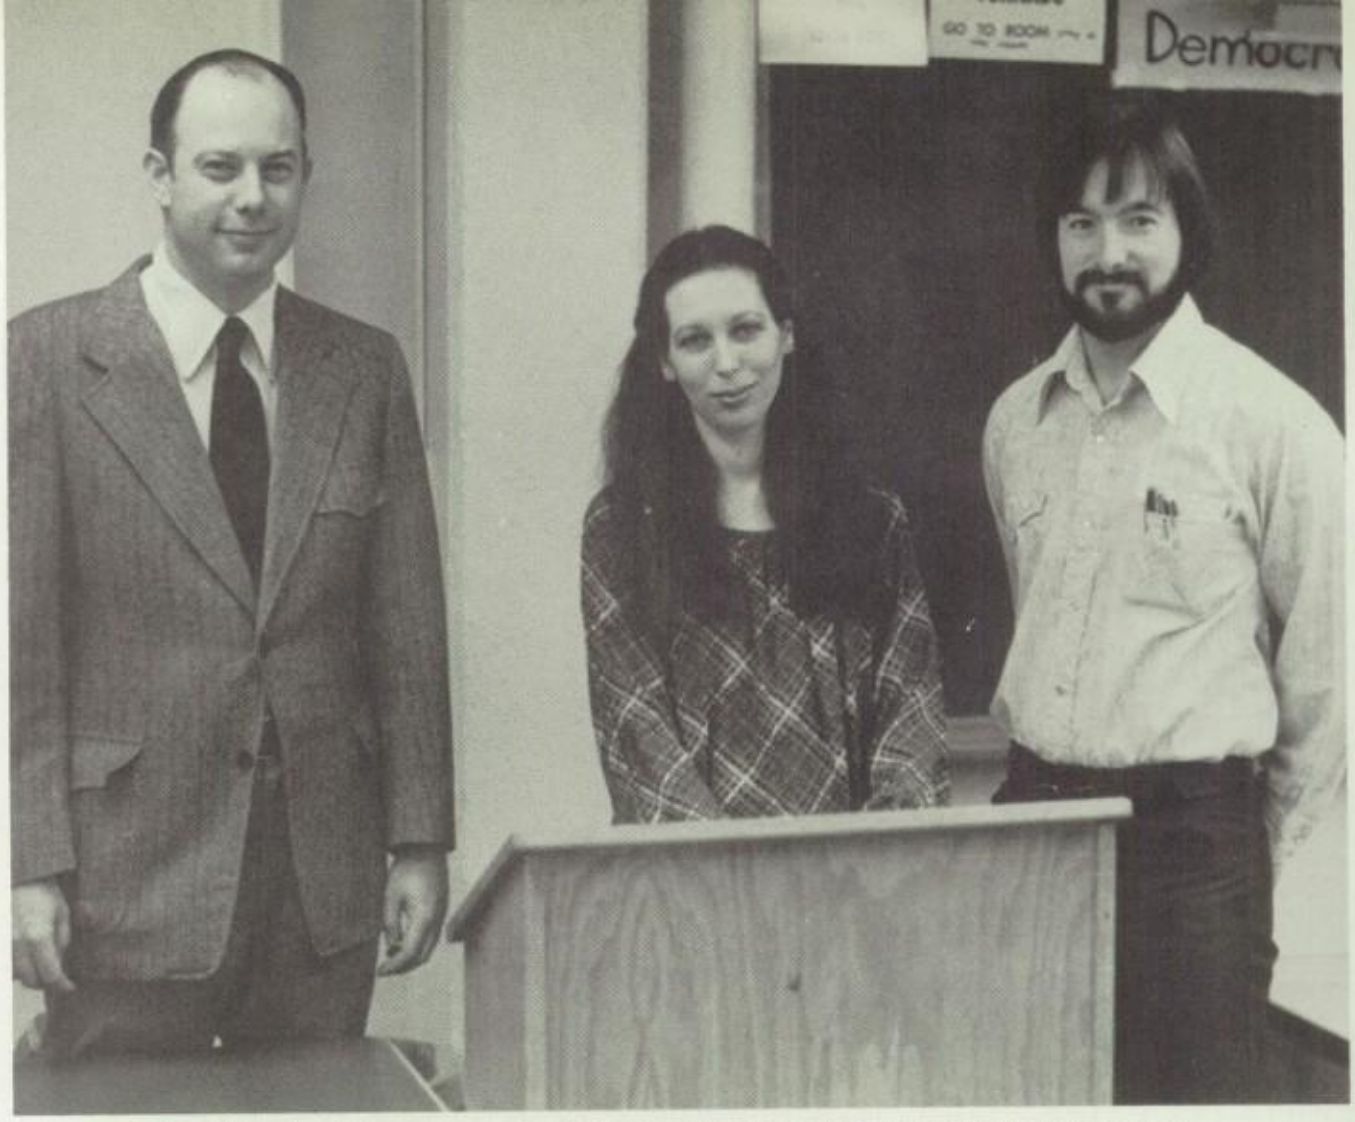
ology: J. Haraughty, Bio. I; A. Austin, Bio. I; M. DeVore, Applied Science, Bio. I; E. Boys, Bio. I; R. Fox, Bio. I and II.

The completed remodeling of the biology wing set off a new spark of enthusiasm for faculty members involved. In the first two full weeks of school, labs had already begun. Faculty and students started off what was to be a great year in biology.

$E=mc^2$, education equals many classic concepts. Students taking physics were exposed to a myriad of new formulas and theories. $D=M/V$ was a basic equation chemistry students were first enlightened with. A few students contributed to the Science Fair.

Meteorology and basic electricity and electronics were two additional classes offered in science. A diversified program of several different kinds of scientific courses was a great bonus for students. Two additional science teachers were the result of increased enrollment.

Beyond the Test Tubes



Social Studies: L. Brown, Economics; S. Gerson, American Studies; P. DeBarthe, Anthropology.

The social science classes were geared to awaken the student to facets of everyday life in our modern society. American history and government combined to reach the student about the evolution and complexities of our democratic government. The student was encouraged to question and strengthen the values by which we live.

The other route open to students was the American studies program. As an individualized course, one was expected to explore varying themes to better understand our society.

One major change in the department was in the resource center. For the first time, the center was staffed by social science teachers. This enabled a student to receive extra help during the day.

Anthropology, psychology, and sociology dealt with man and his way of life. The range of classes allowed the student to pursue individual interests.

Picassos of Pep Club.

We've Got Spirit

We've got spirit, yes we do! And the Girls' Pep Club indeed expressed their spirit. Spreading their enthusiasm throughout the school became their goal as they supported all of SMEast's athletic activities.

Supporting these activities meant decorating lockers, baking team treats, hanging posters in the halls and even silk-screening pillowcases. Meeting weekly, the Pep Club Executive Committee, consisting of four sophomores, four juniors, and four seniors, and the officers Anne Jensen, president; Carolyn Gibbs, vice-president; Mindy Brown, secretary; and Ann Kenyon, treasurer, planned pep assemblies, chose spirit-mouth award winners, and scheduled the supportive activities of the week. Other responsibilities of Pep Club were Homecoming and Sweetheart ceremonies and the annual Lancer Day Parade.

The leadership of the Pep Club Executive Committee and their enthusiasm explain why the Girls' Pep Club was the largest club at East.

Friends

Promoting pride in SME was the main objective of the Boys' Pep Club. With innovative and exciting activities, the Pep Club tried to instill school loyalty unequaled anywhere else. Planning pep assemblies and activities in an original manner was a major part of this year's officers.

Under the guidance of Mr. Wolff, Pep Club Sponsor, the officers Bret Armatas, president; Scott Thompson, vice-president; Eric Darnell, secretary; and John Goldbert, treasurer, attempted to change the exuberant enthusiasm of the boys into constructive support of the school.

The large membership in this year's Boys' Pep Club could be seen during the pep assemblies. The raucous behavior of the boys added a flavor of excitement, and esprit de corps permeated the group.

Leaders of the Pack

Who are those crazy guys in blue, black, and white that climb on top of each other, spring off the mini-tramp and hold up the cheerleaders? The yell leaders of SM East fit that description. Their job of encouraging the crowd to cheer at football games, basketball games, and pep assemblies was difficult at times, yet the yell leaders were successful in stimulating enthusiasm.

Whether atop a shaky pyramid hollering "Gimme an E" or executing a double flip on the sidelines, the yell leaders captured the interest and attention of the audience. Equipped with uniforms and megaphones they assisted the cheerleaders and performed their own pep inducements. Sponsored by Boys' Pep Club and supervised by Mr. David Wolff, the yell leaders practiced chants which instilled Lancer pride, pep, and spirit among the crowd.

Promoting and upholding school spirit was the task which befell the school cheerleading squads. Present at the variety of school sporting events, the cheerleaders ignited the spectators' enthusiasm by performing spirited cheers.

Chosen by the Pep Club the previous year, the varsity cheerleaders supported the varsity sports with tremendous spirit. With twelve girls, two squads were formed to cover more events.

The junior varsity and sophomore squads led the crowds at JV and sophomore events with enthusiastic chants and yells. Their contagious spirit and zealous effort proved them to be "proud to be SME."

Rarely a day passed during which the cheerleaders could not be found practicing or cheering at some event. Each girl put in an enormous amount of time during the school year creating and perfecting cheers. This took rare dedication and loyalty to East. The effect was that school pep and spirit reached an all time high. Supporters at the school sporting events showed their enthusiasm by following the cheerleaders' chants. All in all, school spirit was enhanced by the unique abilities of the cheerleaders.

Go Blow Your Horn

A cheerful, bright smile, poise, and school enthusiasm were characteristic of the '78-'79 Heralder members. They helped to proclaim the cry "Lancers Do It Better." They also continued to boost and spread Lancer spirit. The six girls were truly an integral part of the pep force.

A pep club membership was one of the prerequisites for being a Heralder. The six members were involved in a tryout for poise last fall. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Kim Hunter, the girls helped spread school enthusiasm throughout the year.

The Heralders performed in the opening ceremonies at the pep assemblies and at the home football games. The six girls also participated in parades. They served as messengers of Lancer spirit, and symbolized East's enthusiasm. Sara Neustrom — captain, Judy DeCicco, Lisa Hobson, Liz Clancey, Laura Brock, and Renee Ruch helped exemplify school spirit. More involvement was a bonus for this year's Heralders. At the home football games they assisted in holding up the spirit boosting banner, which the varsity players ran through. The six members also helped the pep club officers with signs and team treats.

The Domino Theory

This year marked the twentieth anniversary of the SM East Drill Team. To celebrate, the Synchronettes stepped in time as they were the highlights of many festivals and halftimes.

The team won top awards in marching and in pompons at the week-long American Drill Team School. Three Lancers received individual awards. The Synchronettes also captured the first prize in the District Marching Festival. It was held at Grand Island in Nebraska.

There were many other high points over the year. The Drill Team hosted the colorful Miss Drill Team Kansas Pageant during November. They also had a performance for alumnae. Eyes sparkled as old-timers enjoyed watching the girls sporting uniforms of fiery '58. The team bowed proudly at the last of their performances, the jubilant Grand Finale in May.

Robin Reigns

Robin Comer was crowned homecoming queen in the midst of the musical background "Up, Up and Away." A hot air balloon, donated by the Hyde family, created added excitement for everyone. As the result of a tie, this year's court consisted of 16 candidates rather than the usual 15. In keeping with a tradition, all 16 finalists were escorted by their proud fathers onto the field. The balloon provided the backdrop for the crowning festivities.

The voting procedure for homecoming queen was different from last year. First, the seniors voted for the queen of their choice from a list composed of senior girls. Then, after an all school assembly in the auditorium, the student body voted for their candidate from a list of 16 finalists. During the assembly, the finalists were introduced. Information on each candidate's school activities and future career plans was also announced.

Oct. 21 gave way to unlimited excitement that was created by the annual homecoming dance. Couples were treated to an evening of music, dancing, and enjoyment.

Sweethearts

Though the event was a bit belated, love was still in the air for the annually held Sweetheart Dance. With the usual Valentine theme in mind, the cafeteria was decorated with crepe paper, hearts, streamers, and balloons, all in pink, red, and white. The cafeteria also was transformed into a descoteque as the dancers took the floor while the disc jockey played music ranging from fast to slow.

A week before the March 3 dance, Sheri Terwell was crowned as the Sweetheart queen. Her court consisted of Margo Wooldridge, first attendant; Marcy Flynn, second attendant; Darcy Marshall, third attendant; Lee Catlett, fourth attendant. They were all crowned and presented with flowers during the half-time of the East-South game.

Though Valentines Day was past, its spirit pervaded every aspect of the Sweetheart Dance.

Stuco Strives

The Student Government successfully functioned as a liaison between the administration and the student body. Being attentive toward the students and their interests proved to be Stuco's primary concern.

Stuco committees, directed by president Barbara Whitehead and sponsors Mrs. Foraker and Dr. Dahling, encouraged student involvement. Chairmen and committee members worked many hours on improving student affairs. These included student elections, assemblies, publicity, dances and student recognition, and charities. A smoking lounge committee which provided guidelines for the smoking area was a new addition this year.

Stuco covered a range of student activities and projects as it sponsored United Fund Week, the Blood Mobile, a cancer drive, two dances, Teacher Appreciation Day, and student orientation. Cultural Arts Week provided a cultural opportunity for all SM East students.

The National Forensics League was an honorary group consisting of individuals participating in debate or forensics. For several years, East has proudly placed within the top ten NFL chapters nationally. This year it was the eighth largest in the United States.

Mr. Larry Brown sponsored the large, articulate group of members. The five expressive officers were Bob Gilbert — president, Jenny Mathewson — vice president, Liz O'Connell — secretary, Eileen Stadler — treasurer, and David Morrison — Stuco Representative.

The first semester gave rise to debate tournaments while the second semester consisted of forensic competition. Students who earned 25 or more points during those events became NFL members.

Students involved with NFL gained insight into how one expresses oneself explicitly. Effective oration proved to be a great asset.

This year's Girls state was held June 10 through the 17 in Lawrence. The purpose of this activity was "to inclulcate a sense of responsibility to community, state and nation." The program subjected the girls to a simulated city government of which they were in charge. The girls chosen had to display these characteristics: an interest in government, outstanding qualities of leadership, honesty, and good scholarship.

Representing East was Deenya Rabuis, and the first Alternate was Lynne Brooks. The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored each girl, and also had final approval of each candidate.

Each participating girl was assigned to one political party, and then was assigned to a city and a county. The precincts were then formed to hold mock elections. The program helped the girls understand some of the responsibilities of the adult world.

Scholars Score More

Shawnee Mission East claimed almost ten percent of all the National Merit Semifinalists in the state of Kansas. Thirteen East students qualified for this honor by their outstanding test scores on the PSAT administered in October of their junior year. They became semifinalists by scoring in the top half of one percent of all Kansas students. To be considered as a National Merit Finalist, semifinalists must be recommended by the school principals and must confirm their high academic standing by taking a second examination during their senior year.

Letters of Commendation were awarded to twenty-three SMEast students this year. These students scored in the top five percent of all students taking the PSAT, which numbered close to one million.

High Society

National Honor Society was an honorary group consisting of students from the junior and senior classes. Scholarship, leadership, character, and service were characteristics of honor society members.

The four inspiring officers were Jenny Mathewson — president, Doug Moskowitz — vice president, Lee Catlett — secretary, and Barbara Whitehead — treasurer. Mrs. Barbara Vogt, sponsor, headed the membership of 168 students — 86 seniors and 82 juniors.

Members were allowed to choose what projects they planned to do throughout the year. They conducted their traditional Blood Mobile drive with the help of the Red Cross during the spring. Also, in the spring, they inducted new members into the society with a ceremony.

A prerequisite for being a member was a 3.0 grade average. Then, it was decided upon by the teachers who placed votes for their student choices.

Qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service were representative of the National Honor Society.

Quill and Scroll Members

Journalists Honored

The Quill and Scroll program honored members of the various school publications for their work. Staff members of the Harbinger, Hauberk, and Labyrinth were inducted at a ceremony at the close of the school year. They were presented with a pin or a pendant, as well as a subscription to the organization's official newsletter THE QUILL.

To qualify for membership, the student had to be on the staff of the school paper, yearbook, or literary magazine, and pass a review by the sponsors of the publications. This review consisted of an evaluation or the student's dedication and work quality.

The Quill and Scroll is an international organization conceived by George Gallup to honor achievement in high school journalism. The program rewards students for the qualities of truth, leadership, loyalty, initiative, integrity, judgement, and friendship, which are considered the principles of good journalism.

The Real Scoop

Through its wide coverage of pertinent news, the Harbinger tried to reflect various facets of the daily life at East. The weekly newspaper was produced by Journalism II classes each semester.

The staffs applied the varied skills they had learned in Journalism I to creating the thirteen publications each semester. Working together in the laboratory atmosphere under the guidance of Mr. Robert Dillon, the staff was responsible for all aspects of the paper; from billing advertisers to writing editorials to interviewing for a news story to reviewing a rock concert.

The individual staffs combined their efforts to produce the only weekly publication in the district and to make it a respected and first-rate paper.

We Did It!

"Reflections," this year's theme for the Hauberk, was skillfully reiterated throughout the book as the staff attempted to present various facets of high school life at SMEast. It took several "grasshopper" speeches, numerous threats and a generally obstinate character on the part of Mrs. Thomson, yearbook adviser, but the yearbook staff nevertheless produced a 328-page volume.

This year's scintillating staff, composed of seven smaller staffs — art, business, design, literary, photography, production, and sports — laboriously worked under the authoritative command of editor-in-chief, Mindy Brown, and assistant editor, Terri Hopkins. Meeting deadlines proved to be the biggest challenge as the staff dealt with the trials of employing a new publisher.

The 1978-1979 yearbook staff created a book of memories that students will treasure as a reflection of high school days.

Maze of Expression

Labyrinth, the literary magazine of Shawnee Mission East, provided an outlet for student expression. Creative poems, short stories, and drawings filled the pages of the two editions issued in January and May.

Consisting of thirty juniors and seniors and headed by Barbara Whitehead, editor, and Mrs. Nora Lamkin, advisor, the Labyrinth staff met each month to determine the contents of the magazine. Each submitted article or illustration was rated by each staff member.

To raise the quality of the magazine, Labyrinth staff conducted a contest which increased the number of articles submitted. Money was raised for the independently funded publication by soliciting subscriptions and selling various school related essays. Both issues were greatly appreciated by the student body.

Drum Majors: Bill Gruening and Corinne Bollier.

The different bands at East each performed various and vital duties during the school year. Under the direction of Mr. Al Hanna, the bands strived for musical excellence and enthusiastic spirit.

The Marching Band performed at assorted events: football games, parades, and competitions. They traveled to Grand Island, Nebraska where they received the highest rating. After football, they became the Concert Band and presented several concerts.

The Pep Band supplied support to many sporting events and assemblies. And for the first time, a class was offered for those desiring to play in the Jazz Band.

Through their dedication and hard work, these bands animated many school functions.

String 'Em Up

The harmonious orchestra, led by Mr. Kenneth Tebow, participated in many concerts and festivals. Their performances at East included Masterworks and Holiday Vespers. They were invited by Wichita State as an honor orchestra. The string orchestra and orchestra participated in the State Music Festival where both won first division ratings. Civic events and performing for the National Urban/Suburban School District Convention were also included in their list of activities.

A number of students chosen by audition were participants in the pit orchestra for "Oklahoma," and several ensembles performed around the community.

Sing! Sing! Sing!

The choral music department had a very successful year as they brought joy to the hearts of music listeners throughout the area. Much of the credit was due to Mr. Dan Zollars, charismatic director of the five East choirs comprising over 225 students.

The Chamber Singers, Choraliers, Concert Choir, Sophomore Choir, and Girls Choir opened and closed their concert season with performances in the fall and spring. The traditional Holiday Vespers and the Masterworks Concert brought warmth to the months of winter and some vocalists also partook in staging the musical OKLAHOMA in January. April brought sunshine as the choirs came alive at the State Music Festival. Members of all the groups were given the opportunity to audition for ensembles and/or as soloists. Certain vocalists competed for the individual honor of also singing in the All-District and All-State Choirs. It was a great year Mr. Zollars!

That's Entertainment

Thespians is the name of an honorary group for students who were involved with East's plays and musicals. Mr. Eldon Evans sponsored the very talented theatrical group. The five inspirational officers consisted of president — Jim Adam, first vice-president — Amy Gilman, second vice-president — Vic Finkelstein, secretary — Cee-Cee Morgan, and treasurer — Clark Miller.

Individuals were able to work on the productions as crew members or as actors. Points were given to those participating students for their endeavors. An accumulation of ten points qualified one as a member of the Thespians. Throughout the year, members sold programs at basketball and football games to raise money.

In May, the Thespians held a banquet where the best actor and actress were announced along with the officers for the next year.

SM Easts budding artists improved their abilities as members of the Thespians.

Classical Comedy

A Midsummer Night's Dream was the first play by William Shakespeare presented at East in more than a decade. The cast portrayed various characters ranging from a mustard seed to a queen. The play was written in blank verse and many of its words seemed foreign to the cast as well as the audience. Learning speeches was difficult but as the words took on meaning, the characters discovered the memorization of their scripts was facilitated by the steady rhythm.

Trying to create more audience contact, many entrances were made from the aisles. With an extended stage and aisle entrances and exits, the audience felt a more personal involvement with the play and characters. The exotic costumes and sets were also a point of interest.

The play, which was presented on October 11, 12, and 13, contained several intertwining plots. Four lovers chasing one another in the forest intermingled with the fairies. Puck, one of the fairies, spread mischief throughout the production. The other group in the woods was several tradesmen practicing a play. These three groups became involved with each other but at the end they separated again. With so many plots going on simultaneously, the play was action packed.

Oklahoma Is OK

The chorus sings "Oklahoma."

"Where the wind comes sweepin' down the Plain."

Eight o'clock, January 25, marked curtain time for SM East's musical "Oklahoma". Rogers and Hammerstein's charming story of the rough and tumbling life of pre-state Oklahoma and the effects romance and future statehood had on the inhabitants was relived on the SM East stage.

The cast of 43 practiced diligently, two hours daily after school, in preparation for the three performances on January 25, 26, and 27. Seventeen dancers, twenty chorus singers, and seven leads composed this year's musical cast. The lead characters were skillfully portrayed by Jennifer Sisney, Amy Gilman, Steve Sachs, Vic Finkelstein, Molly Brown, Mark Goodwin, and Jim Adam.

The play involved several behind-the-scenes committees and through the combined efforts of everyone concerned the musical and drama departments staged a true success.

The spring play this year was the production of "An Imaginary Invalid", written by Moliere. Set in sixteenth century France, the play revolved around the antics of a hypochondriac nobleman. This comic character had two passions in life: his illnesses and his money. To accommodate both, he planned to marry his daughter off to a future doctor who would provide him with free medical advice.

This comedy was originally written in French, and in tribute of this, the Prologue was spoken in French and then translated in English for the audience. The actors had to spend many hours perfecting the speech. The costumes and sets also reflected this romantic period in French history. Because of the lack of female characters, several roles were written into the play, which increased its scope. The play was staged on April 26, 27, and 28.

Far East Adventure

"Japan: Land of the Rising Sun" was the theme of this year's Junior-Senior Prom. Couples began an evening of fun and excitement in this Oriental atmosphere.

Japanese gardens and a grove of cherry blossom trees in bloom were natural attractions. The sunrise shone down upon the festivities. A house and harbor were also scenic additions to the Prom.

The band "Backtalk" provided the acoustics for couples to boogie in rhythm. Spirits continued to rise throughout the evening.

Geisha girls served Oriental refreshments in the Japanese tea houses. They also provided entertainment by dancing to ceremonial music. In all, over thirty sophomore servers and even more junior chairman and committeemen helped with the task of Prom. This marked an unforgettable evening in the "Land of the Rising Sun."

Foreign Trade

"Walk together, talk together, all ye peoples of the Earth, then and only then shall ye have peace." This has been the basis for the American Field Service program as it attempts to promote better world understanding by sending students abroad.

This same theme was clearly understood by the members of Shawnee Mission East's International Club. The club acted as a home base for the six foreign exchange students attending East as well as provided an opportunity for students to learn about foreign cultures.

International Club sponsored several activities this year such as the disco, which proved to be very profitable, and the student-disc jockey basketball game. The money earned from these activities was used to help pay expenses to bring foreign students to East. Linda Goldman, president, and Mrs. Jennie Teel, sponsor, successfully organized these activities in addition to planning meetings, programs, and numerous parties.

Members of the club had fun as they gained valuable experience and knowledge of foreign countries through relationships with exchange students.

The Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps participated in many activities along with the classroom work. They did several school oriented services, such as performing as guides at Back to School Night, the college clinic, and Music Festival. They also participated in social and civic activities during the year.

The extra curricular activities of the NJROTC program were stressed. At all home football and basketball games, the opening ceremonies were performed by the drill team and color guard. They also performed at Kemper Arena for the Big 8 activities in Kansas City. The drill team and color corps put in long hours of training and rehearsal for these performances.

The helpful activities of the NJROTC facilitated many school related functions.

The excitement of Monday night basketball.

Maybe we should sign up.

Watch da ball.

A wide variety of sports was available to all students through the intramural program. Ping-pong, badminton, basketball, and co-ed volleyball led to exciting matches among participating students on Monday evenings. Tuesday and Thursday nights gave rise to co-ed soccer matches. Students who felt bowling was "right up their alley" could enjoy involvement on the lanes every Tuesday.

Much of the success of the intramural program was due to Mr. Fred Abell, sponsor. Between 400 and 500 students participated and had fun. Intramural gym was also available to all students on Saturdays. This enabled students to come in, workout, and perfect their skills.

Intramurals was an exciting outlet which led to hours of enjoyment. Active students were able to participate in sports and also work with others in a team effort. The diversified intramural program proved beneficial as participants competed and enjoyed rivalrous fellowship.

The 1978 Varsity football team, as in the year past, were considered to be small but quick in early season ratings. However, the Lancers shaped up to hit just as hard as their big opponents to establish a 5-4 season record.

The Lancers exploded off the line winning their first four contests. After defeating Wyandotte and Washington the team rallied from behind in the fourth quarter to beat SMWest 17-10. The following week in a defensive battle the Lancers shutout SMNorthwest 7-0. Defeated by Lawrence 7-22, then upset by Topeka 14-22 the Lancers came back strong against North. East dominated regulation play but the score remained tied. In overtime, on a fourth down do or die situation North was called for pass interference. The Lancers capitalized on the break scoring a touchdown. Then completing a two point conversion the team was triumphant 22-21. In the final two weeks of the season East faced two perplexing contests being defeated by Rockhurst 7-13 and SMSouth 6-41.

Lancer takes a handoff.

The Lancer junior varsity kicked off the year with three big wins and continued with a winning season with a respectable 5-4 record.

The team swamped the Wyandotte Bulldogs in the season opener at home 40-0. Leaving East on the following week, the squad walked over the Wildcats of Washington 20-0. Back at home the next week, the Lancer squad rolled over SMWest 21-14. Then the team suffered defeats to SMNorthwest and Lawrence. The next win came easiest by far; Topeka forfeited, reporting to not have enough players. The team's most definite match up came against SMNorth, the Lancers winning 12-6 on a long pass from Cantril to Cutitta and a Logsdon interception for a touchdown. Terminating the year the team fell to Rockhurst and SMSouth.

Head coach Jon Beltram commented on the team, "The team had more depth in the line than ever before at East. The good line blocking sparked the offensive game well."

Sophomores Impressive

The sophomore Black and White teams combined a winning record of 12-6 for the 1978 season. The Black Team posting a record of 3-6. Unlike their record indicates, when the team lost they were close hard-fought games with only one score affecting the outcome. The White Team appeared to be almost flawless going undefeated; shutting out four opponents closing their season with a 9-0 record. Included in their list of shutouts were Harmon, Lawrence, S.M. North, and Sumner.

Both teams showed progressive improvement throughout their season as the coaches, George Bloomster, Tom LeBar, Douglas Brown, and Dave Barreca worked together with the young boys to develop technique, physical skills, and strength. Coach Bloomster, head coach of the White Team, commented, "If we could have played some of the teams over again, the scores would have been a lot more spread out."

Led by sophomore Cary Funk's twelfth place finish, the Shawnee Mission East Boys' Cross Country team placed third at the state meet in Manhattan. The state squad, consisting of Funk, Phil Broaddus, Tom Lankford, Jack Marshall, Dan Roche, Tom Stafford, and Jim Stapleton, and coached by Karl Englund and John Haraughty, finished in the third spot for the third time in the last four years.

The Lancer boys barely made it to the state meet, finishing fourth at the Regional meet in a field of eleven schools. At Regionals, as was the case much of the regular season, the boys were paced by Broaddus, who placed fifth. SM South won the meet convincingly.

The week before the Regional Meet, the junior varsity placed second at League, losing for only the third time all season. Jim Stapleton captured first in the JV race. The C team finished a strong first at League.

Roadwork

Led by the dynamic duo of juniors Leisha Tenney and Lori Nelson, the girls' cross country team was easily able to run with all its opponents, finishing first on several occasions. Going into the State meet in Manhattan with great expectations, the girls were disappointed by their sixth place finish. Nevertheless, Nelson ran an outstanding race, finishing fourth, and was followed by Tenney, Mary Alford, Caryne Finlay, Maria Pacheco, Shelley Hall, and Kim Funk.

Throughout the season, Tenney, in only her first year of organized running, consistently placed first or second. Her winning races came in the K.C. Southeast Invitational, a triangular meet between S.M. North and S.M. South, and at the Sunflower League meet, where the team placed fifth. In her other four meets before state, Tenney finished in second place.

Girls Overpowering

For the eighth consecutive year, the SM East girls' tennis team continued to dominate the State competition, returning home with three of four State trophies. Sophomore Kim Clingan captured second place in singles and the doubles team composed of Liz Jones and Sue Mitchell returned as State champs with the Jensen sisters, Anne and Marn, following with second place in the doubles competition. The team, coached by Carolyn Howard, also rallied to take the Sunflower League and Regional titles. They displayed tremendous consistency throughout the entire regular season losing only one tournament to the South Raiders. The 1978 season was also the first time in several years that the entire varsity team qualified for the State competition.

The Junior-Varsity stroked their way through a spectacular 12-0 season and the Blue-White squads followed the example by completing undefeated seasons of match play also.

The entire team, cut for the first time to 74 players, had one of the most outstanding seasons in East's history. Its strength and depth are expected to continue producing State champs in the future years to come.

At least I found it!!

The 1978 Lancer Girls' Golf team, just in its fourth year of existence, had a tremendously successful season. The confidence of three returning lettermen plus three prospective sophomores led the team, under coach Norris Stauffer, to its first State Championship. The varsity team consisting of Lisa Hobson, Mary Piper, Marilyn McGilley, Liz Smart, Marcy Dickey, and Stephanie Osborne completed an undefeated regular season. The four-man team broke the previous school record with a score of 344 at a tournament in Emporia, and the girls won by an incredible lead of 18 strokes at the Lawrence Invitational. The team then went on to capture first at League and to take second at Regionals, their only loss of the season. But the team's confidence drove them on to Salina to compete in the two day State competition. Taking advantage of the surprisingly beautiful weather, the Lancers won their first State title. With at least four expected returning lettermen, Coach Stauffer anticipates another successful season in 1979.

Under the direction of first year coach Christal Hamman, the Lancer volleyball team finished out the regular season with a 5-7 record. The girls showed fine teamwork and good overall balance throughout the entire season.

At the Sunflower League meet held at SM Northwest, the team started out very well, beating SM South convincingly. This victory was followed by two disappointing losses to a fine Lawrence team and to SM West.

The girls then moved on to the regional tournament at Harmon. In the first round East had to play SM North, generally considered to be the pre-tournament favorites. The girls played extremely well but came up on the short end in a hard fought match.

A hard fought season for the junior varsity resulted in a fine second-place finish at the SM East Invitational. At the same time the sophomore squad showed great potential while compiling an impressive 11-1 record. Included in their season was a first place finish at the Topeka High Invitational Tournament.

Having finished fourth place in each of the last three State meets, the boys' gymnastics squad came through in the clutch to edge Lawrence and S.M. West for first place by 2.07 points to win State. Coached by Larry Colburn with co-captains Kurt Schutzel and Chuck Miller, the gymnasts set a new State four-man scoring record. Placing first on high bar, second on parallel bars, and third all-around, Schutzel and finalists Miller, Doug Moskowitz, Julio Charlons, Fid Norton, and Jeff Lewis wanted to win in their last year at East. About State, Colburn said, "It was one of the closest State meets where any of the three teams could have won." On the way to State, the gymnasts took first place in Regionals and the East Invitational, second in the Olathe and Lawrence Invitationals, and third in League, making it a superb season.

This year girls' gymnastics squad, coached by Miss Debbie Caufield, endured a terribly disappointing and frustrating season. Highlighting the season were performances by seniors Suzanne Newman and Kathlyn Clark, juniors Dennya Rabius and Jill Heley, and sophomore Debbie Dillon. Dillon went to State in the floor exercise.

Instead of dwelling on the past season, the girls are already looking forward to next season. To go along with next year's junior and senior gymnasts, coach Caufield is hoping for a great number of interested sophomore girls. Also, considering that the team will lose only a few seniors, they are in good shape for next year's season.

Though the season was bleak, the girls stayed with it and gained experience.

"Proud to be SME", the school theme for 78-80, clearly coincided to this season's Varsity boys' basketball team and its competence. The squad consisted of five seniors this year. Three were returning lettermen, Dick Anderson, Mark Briggs and team captain Scott Sayler. Seniors Bret Armatas and David Householter backed the team up well.

The season opener was at Miege on Dec. 1. East out finessed the Stags to a 63-54 victory. After a defeat to SM West, the Lancers rallied four wins in a row. The first victim was Center, who we defeated 50-43. Then came SM North 4438, SM Northwest 69-54, and Washington 56-43. On Jan. 5, East suffered rebuff to SM South by a score of 53-58. East triumphed over the Wyandotte Bull dogs and then lost to the Lawrence Lions 53-63, the following two weeks. In a second dual against SM West, our team took revenge against the Vikings by a commanding 64-52 victory. East traveled to Dodge City next to take fifth in the annual tournament. Rich Mullen, a junior, shattered his own school scoring record and pumped in 51 points to aid the Lancers to a 87-47 victory over Moscow. On the next week Mullen sank a clutch freethrow to edge out SM Northwest 61-60.

The Lancers closed out the regular season play clashing with SM South at home. The game proved exciting, as it has been traditionally. Regional play was held Mar. 5-10 and state play concluded Mar. 15-17.

Reminiscent of last year's jv, the boys' junior varsity basketball team started the season like gangbusters. They began the year with successive victories over Bishop Miege, SM West, Center, SM North, and SM Northwest before finally losing to perennial power Washington. East then rebounded, though to down archrival SM South.

The Lancers, coached this year by Rick Royer, were led in both scoring and rebounding by Mark Ahnen. The main cause of the jv's success, however, was their depth. Juniors Ahnen, Doug Tapp, Pancho Angles, Mark Kenyon, Dave Laner, Brian Doerr, David Kiene, Kevin Gage, and Steve James and sophomores Dan Moylan and Steve Mulcahy all played vital roles. Juniors Rich Mullen and Daivd Logsdon saw little jv action, spending most of their time on the varsity level.

The Lancer roundballers were especially successful on their home court; dropping but two games in the friendly confines of the SME gymnasium. At home the Lancers had a particularly sweet victory over Lawrence — revenge for a bitterly contested early season loss. This highlighted a successful and valuable season for the junior varsity.

Picking up where last year's sophomores left off, the boys' sophomore basketball team completely dominated area courts. Under the direction of coach John Oman, the boys reeled off victory after impressive victory. East was especially awesome in Sunflower League play, dropping just one game. That loss, coming from the hands of Lawrence, was later avenged on East's home court.

The high point of the Cager's season would have had to have come in the SM East Invitational Tournament. There, for the second time in as many years the East sophomore team captured the title.

The sophs were not thoroughly outplayed in any of their games. Throughout the entire season, they showed remarkable team work and outstanding depth. Oman remarked that they were also "Probably the best shooting team" he had ever coached.

Because of the sophomores' outstanding leadership and teamwork abilities, East's prospects for success are bright.

Seniors Cathy Fuchs and Susan Morasco, led off as forwards while juniors Marn Jenson, Loretta Ninci, and Liz Fudemburg took their positions as guards and center. Fuchs led the team with an average of 15.2 points per game, and Fudemburg led in rebounds. All five starters were returning lettermen.

Just in its fourth year of existence, the team marked the season with steady improvement. At the South Invitational, the Lancers were defeated by the Raiders, yet came back to beat Harmon 47-38, went on to defeat St. Teresas' by a wide margin of 53-38. Regionals were played March 5-10.

Coach Dick Furman premiered this year as varsity and j.v. coach. Furman, very satisfied with the progressive season, anticipates a highly competitive team in 1980, with a large amount of depth and experience.

Soph. and JV Successful

Led by the coaching of Trish Kocialski and Dick Furman the sophomore and junior varsity girls' basketball teams paired up successful seasons.

Away at SM North, the sophomore team came home victors in their season opener. Nancy Blaich led the girls scoring attack while six foot two inch Martha Schneider took control of the rebounding. The team continued playing well throughout the season and placed fourth in the sophomore tournament.

East's JV followed the same pattern as our sophomore team by overmastering Southwest in their opening game. Juniors Missy Bauman and Dianna Lord led in scoring. The entire team showed fine teamwork and poise the complete season.

The sophomore team felt confident at the season's closing and are looking forward to developing their basketball skills next year on the JV level. Coach Kocialski commented, "We had one of our most successful seasons ever." Likewise the future of our JV looks bright for varsity.

Hey, your shoe's untied.

In only his first year as East's coach, Mark Devore has instilled a sense of pride and confidence in each of his wrestlers. As a sculptor does with clay, Devore and assistant coach Doug Brown took the inexperienced wrestlers and worked with them all season long. Although East took their lumps in League and Regionals, Devore is confident that if they had an extra year to work with the wrestlers, they would have been much more impressive.

Headed by senior co-captains Mark Dominey and Kevin Kuse and junior co-captain Kelly Shepard, the wrestlers struggled for a 3-8 season record. Perhaps the greatest individual effort of the season came from Dominey, who placed third in the Regional tournament. In doing so he decisively beat a South wrestler who had beaten him three times previously. This third place victory advanced him to the sub-state competition held in Lawrence.

Coach Devore was, of course, disappointed with the season, but he is not dwelling on it. Instead, he is busy recruiting wrestlers from the junior high schools, organizing a wrestling club, and planning to hold a summer wrestling clinic.

Fish Finish First

This year's boys' swim team set fire to every pool in which they swam. Going undefeated throughout the entire season, the Lancer fish swam their way to the League and State Championships. Coach Norris Stauffer and assistant coach Leroy Anderson cannot help but be pleased with their success.

Scoring 352 points in the League meet, East left South in their wake by 64 points. Highlighting the meet was a new League record in the 200 medley relay by the team consisting of seniors Steve Lyons and Kurt Gallehugh, junior Paul Barnhardt, and sophomore Dirk Marshall. Other superb performances came from seniors Brian Funk, first in the 200 freestyle and third in the 100 freestyle; Tom Allen, second in the 100 butterfly; juniors Mark Templeton, third in the 100 butterfly; Jeff Danda, second in the 100 breaststroke; and Marshall's first place in the 100 butterfly.

At the State meet held in Manhattan, Gallehugh led the Lancers with two first place finishes.

Becky Beilharz

After just two weeks of practice, the Lancer girls' swimming team exploded into a victory at their season opener, the Shawnee Mission East Invitational. The girls have remained the defending champs of this title for the last four years. Defeating SM South by 40 points, and Emporia by 42, the girls had already won over their toughest competitions anticipated for the season.

Striving for their third consecutive state championship, senior captain Terri Hopkins and junior captain Jenny Wagstaff led the team of 80 girls to a highly competitive season. Returning lettermen Darcy Marshall and Mindy Brown, butterflyers; Kim Duncan, free styler; Becky Beilharz, former relay champ, and Liz Clancey, a breast-stroker, also added depth to the team.

Head coach, Carolyn Howard, also expected another victorious season with three of the 400 free relay champions returning, and Wagstaff, who swam All-American time in the 200 IM, 100 butterfly, and 100 freestyle her '78 year.

Practices lasted an average of two hours every day. Hard work and endurance prevailed as the season proceeded and the girls went on to the State meet to maintain their proud tradition and standings.

10 Varsity Return

Opening track practice on March 12, the Lancer track and field team compiled one of their most accomplished seasons in recent years. With the installment of the new 400 meter track, sprinters did not enjoy easier workouts. Six to fifteen miles daily built up endurance for the distance runners, while the weight lifting and technique were stressed in the field events.

No one sprinter lead the team this year. Phil Broaddus dominated distance running and Dennis Malley took command in the pole vault.

Although track season was set back this year by new regulations, nearly all tracksters sacrificed their spring break plans to train twice a day. The team competed in a quadrangular meet to start off the season on March 29 and worked hard to prepare for State Outdoor on May 18 and 19.

Girls Track Along

Girls' track in 1979 was hardly an ordinary year. Under the new head coach, Bill Boley, the girls began official practice in March. Head track coaches Karl England and John Haraughty, boys and girls distance coaches were optimistic of the team's potential and talent. Among the team's talented individuals were juniors Lori Nelson and Leisha Tenny. Leisha, NAIA Women's Mile Champion was the team's main inspiration.

Top sprinters were Lori Nelson, Jane Bates, Meredith Fuller, and Melissa Dick. Leisha Tenny and Amy Kennedy were the elite in the distance performance. Melissa Dick and Amy Kennedy were competitive in the low hurdles. In the field events Meredith Fuller threw the shot and disc, while Maria Pacheco displayed her competence in the long jump. The majority of the team were juniors, therefore next year's outlook is excellent.

Do It Again

The 1979 boys' tennis team, coached by Mr. Phil Berg, rolled into State to defend their State title. Berg's main goal was to repeat State champions Sam Fotopoulos in singles, and the team of Rich Mullen and David Berg in doubles. During the season, the Lancer netters went to League attempting to win their fourteenth League title out of the last sixteen years. Coach Berg thought that East's toughest competition would come from S.M. South, who has the same team as they had last year.

Returning lettermen were Fotopoulos, Mullen, Berg, Mark English, Tom Allen, Steve Pascarella, Tom Moore, and Paul Leonard, who was out for most of the season with a broken hand.

The general feeling of Coach Berg was, "It's always tougher to repeat".

Determined for State

The Lancer golfers opened the season this year with great confidence. The team had just three returning lettermen from a very successful '78 year, but a total of 38 came out for the sport this spring.

John Sherman, a senior, came into the season with all of the skill and determination necessary to again carry him to the State Championship, which he had previously won his sophomore year. Junior Craig Apple, last year's State champion, also returned with the quality to try for the title once again. Additional strength was provided by seniors Rick Arnold and Mike Bickley; and junior Wick Poore.

Coach Norris Stauffer was again looking forward to a successful season holding the first practice March 12. The team swung into action at the Shawnee Mission Invitational, April 5.

As the season came to a close, the Lancers participated in Regionals, the tourney from which the qualifying golfers proceeded onto the state meet in Emporia.

Baseball Tough

Built around a strong infield and a solid core of returning lettermen, the East baseball team enjoyed a successful season. The Lancer infield was anchored by the slick-fielding senior trio of third baseman Brian Balbinot, shortstop Dick Anderson, and second baseman Pat Antonucci. Their play throughout the entire season helped to make East one of the best defensive squads in the area.

Although hurt by graduation, the Lancers were fortunate to once again have the services of Bret Armatas, Jimmy Phillips, and Scott Seiden, along with Anderson, Antonucci, and Balbinot.

The Lancers, who for the third straight year were coached by Rusty Newman, were strong in every aspect of the game. This fact, plus their intense determination and hustle, allowed them to compete with each team they played. All things considered, 1979 proved to be a banner year for East baseball.

Strike three!

Pitchers: D. Anderson, J. Phillips, K. Brown, T. Bremmer, D. Keine, D. Viehweg.

Girls Varsity Softball: Row 1: R. Walsh, T. Walsh, K. Strong, J. liams. Row 2: L. Borden, C. Mitchell, L. Ninci, A. Brack. Row 3: A. Holman, S. Maloney, C Fuchs, M. Boeman.

Great Expectations

This year's girls' softball team, under the coaching of Miss Trish Kocialski, came into the '79 season with great expectations. Coming off of one of their best seasons in S.M. East softball history, the girls were planning to pick up exactly where they left off. Coach Kocialski looked for leadership to come from returning letterpersons Amy Brack, Cathy Fuchs, Sharon Maloney, Christine Mitchell, and Rose Walsh. To go along with these second year veterans, Coach Kocialski believed there would be enough sophomores to fill the shoes of last year's senior graduates.

Throughout the season, whether in league games or inter-league games, the softballers gave one hundred percent at all time on the playing field. Although they had their ups and downs, Coach Kocialski could not help but be pleased with the performances turned in by the team.

Girls Softball Pitchers: R. Walsh, L. Borden, A. Holman, C. Fuchs

Girls Softball Catchers: A. Brack, S. Maloney.

JV Softball: Row 1: J. Gibbons, K. Toler, A. Nince, S. Uppman, N. Blaich, T. Knapp, M. LeManske, J. Ruiz, K. Dickey. Row 2: J. Carolan, L. Lane, J. Durham, L. Cassidy, A. Stoepp, S. Lowe, K. Duncan, L. Chowins, J. Siebol.

Returning Letterwomen: R. Walsh, A. Brack, C. Mitchell, S. Maloney, C. Fuchs.

Sara Gill

The staff for the spring semester of SM East's newspaper, the Harbinger, has been selected with senior Jenny Mathewson named as the new editor-in-chief.

Mathewson was chosen in late November by Harbinger adviser Robert Dillon. She in turn chose senior Kim Hougland as the assistant editor-in-chief.

The other editors for the paper will be Eileen Stadler, news editor; David Morrison, assistant news editor; Sharon Appelbaum, feature editor; Tom Stapp, assistant feature editor; Mark Gunter, sports editor; and Cathy Fuchs, assistant sports editor.

The managers chosen for next semester are Jane Sweeney, circulation manager; Megan McCully, advertising manager; and John Hoffman, assistant advertising manager.

Monica Marshall, business manager;

Composing the art staff will be Robert Dorrell and Lisa Williams.

Mindy Levine and Cathy Toates will make up the photography staff.

The news reporters selected are Lisa Adler, Jeff Clark, Eve Loug, Scott Seiden, and ~~Stacy Stutz~~.

The largest staff, features, will consist of Warren Bridges, ~~Sara Gill,~~ Bob Hockett, Holly Littlejohn, Rosie McCarthy, Sheryl Payne, Andrea Ray, Susan Shields, and Amy Sheftel.

Daron Higginbotham

Bob Gilbert, Marn Jensen, Audrey Holman, Susan Marasco and Mike Watts will be making up the sports staff.

The advertising staff will consist of Rick Fuller, Martha Ford, Gary Gibson, Lauren Jennings, Pat Myers, Sherri Rosen and Lisa Scott.

"They've got a lot of hard work ahead of them, but I think they can do it," summed up Dillon.

Thanks,

As a simple dreamer, we walk
in solitude's
silence — a cool
wind blowing in our face, the warm
sun on our back — and let our mind drift . . .
reflect . . .
imagine.
We contemplate
love, life, and death, searching for peace
of mind.
If, in our last instant, we glimpse one final image of the melange that was our life, as a dreamer,
a fool,
a man, we only wish to reflect a smile because — we lived.

Leisha
Have fun this Summer running, and good luck with your races,
Mike Sharp

Leisha-
It so glad to know you this year
Have a nice summer
and will see you nex
year.
Good luck
Mai-Pham.

Dear Leisha

When I saw you go in Bio. two years ago I felt real bad. And I know what was in for you if you didnt come back, ~~what~~ well hear you are! and every one likes you. but I liked you befor you were famous around hear. and it looks like you are goind to be a winner! I am Glad for you and what your doing good (sappy!) back I'll ~~look~~ Look for you in the news + you ~~look~~ look for me

Jack

Leisha We made it Through Math class with all four of our tt teachers. I hope you keep on running (maybe to the Olympics) See ya next year Mason
